From the Richmond Enquirer.

FROM THE MEDITERRANEAN.

We have been favored with the perusal of two letters from a young officer in the Mediterranean, a native of Richmond, to his particular friend, which breathes so inquisitive a spirit, and such admirable sentiments, and contains, such good views of the places he has visited, that we do ourselves the pleasure of making the following extracts for the amusement of the public:

Gibraltar Bay, July 10, 1816.

My last letter was dated from Algiers, from thence, we sailed to Tunis and Tripoli: in both of which places, we found the British squadron under Admiral Lord Exmouth, busily fabricating a treaty for their Sicilian and Sardinian Majesties—by no means consonant with the deservedly high character of the British arms.—I was on shore for an hour at Tripoli: I was better pleased with it than Algiers or Tunis: in as much as the streets are wider and cleaner, and admitting of much finer draught of pure air.

We stood from Tripoli over to Malta, but, being unable to obtain pratique in consequence of our communication with the Barbary shore, we sailed for Syracuse, where we anchored for the second time, on the 3d of May. Though we continued in quarantine during our stay here, and of course were unable to visit many remarkable antiquities of the place, it was still gratifying to behold the theatre of so many great events prominent in history, and to trace them with as much exactness as my feeble resources would permit.

The view which presentes itself from the harbor of Syracuse has more of grandeur and sublimity than any to be possibly conceived—The venerable heaps of hoary ruin, overlooked by the snowy crest of old Etna reflecting the rising sun, form a collection of sublime and lovely objects, transcendently wonderful, and calculated to inspire the dullest, most vapid mind, with sentiments of awe and reverence. When I behold this scene, I could scarce contain an exclamation of rapture and delight. Surely a pious and exalted mind would have enjoyed the most enviable and hoaly pleaure in the contemplation of such objects. Added to all this, the scene is graced with tints of softer, lovlier nature. A rich and almost immeasurable medow presents itself, adorned with the finest cultivation, and intersected by a stream on whose banks the finest cattle in the world are ever grazing. Indeed it is a fairy spot; but time, ambition and oppression have soiled it with their deepest tinge and all those beauties are lavished on a race of corrupted and degraded wretches.

We sailed from Syracuse to Messina, of that place and the view as you proceed up the Faro, I have spoken in a previous letter: so we will commence with Malta, of which you have so often read, celebrated as the long and well defended strong hold of the knights. It is now in the hands of the different masters, who care as much for them, as you or I for Don Quixette or his squire. The fairy Island of Calypso [now Gozo] is only five miles from Malta, though by no means corresponding with its former character of flowery banks, eternal spring, &c. &c.

La Valette, the capital of the Island and residence of the Governor, is second in strength only to Gibraltar. I was but a few hours ashore, and had only an opportunity of visiting one or two curiosities. The church of St. John's is celebrated as having been one of the richest in Europe. It was built by the Knights of Malta, and has twelve separate chapels, vieing with each other with splendour and magnificence, and allotted to the different nations to which some of their distinguished Order belonged. All its ornaments, such as statues, grating, candle sticks, &c. were formerly of solid silver, but it was sadly rifled by the French, who carried off according to the story of the Maltese, a frigate balanced with its spoils. A gate and railing of silver still remain around one of the altars, which with many other ornaments, were painted black to deceive the plunderers, and thus preserved. However, every thing falls short of the tapestry work, of which the execution is so exquisite, that it requires the nicest observation to distinguish it from the most delicate touches of the pencil. It is all on crimson velvet, representing the birth & most remarkable scenes in the history of our Saviour down to his crucifixion. The floors are all of the most curious and beautiful Mosaic composed of the tombs of the Knights whose remains are deposited, in which are inlaid a thousand beautiful and singular devices. The palace is a handsome and extensive building: It has a fine library, and one of the best armories in Europe. These I did not see; however, I have as good a right to mention things that I never saw, as Sterne, who occupied five pages with the description of Calais, which he reached after dark and left before day light.

From Malta we sailed two days after we anchored, steering for Palermo, off which place the Java, Erie and Ontario joined us, the latter vessel we dispatched to Mahon, while we touched at Tunis and Algiers. At the latter place, we received orders to join Com. Shaw in Gibraltar. We therefore made sail without anchoring, and on the 4th of July anchored in Malaga. We dressed ship, manned the yards, and fired a salute in commemoration of the glorious event. Having caught 26 turtle two days before we made a mess for all hands, and served a double allowance of wine and grog to the crew.—When the peal of our cannon and the hearty cheers of our brave fellows proclaimed amid despots and slaves a free, a great and happy people, my soul swelled with an enthusiasm, one glow of which I would not barter for every selfish enjoyment.

I am pleased to find the prosperity of the navy still increasing—The Dutch Admiral to whom I carried several papers from the captain, told me we ranked the first in the world, and that the American Navy was the finest profession for a youth that the world afforded. It is indeed, a glorious service: and I am devoted to it, life and soul.

Naples Bay, August 24, 1816.

We have been at anchor here since the 24th of July, without the recurrence of any remarkable circumstance, save an eruption of Vesuvius on the 7th. What may have been the nature or the result of Mr Pinkney's demands, we are left to conjecture.—Whatever they are, it is reported among us that the king has acquiesced in their justice. The squadron, with the exception of the schr. Hornet are all here, making a formidable appearance, not altogether to the gout of the Italians. We expect every moment to sail; I believe only awaiting the decision of a court-martial to be made public.—Most probably, we shall sail for Messina thence to Syracuse for the arrangement of our hospital—thence we shall pay a visit to the Barbary powers. Our business there being settled, we will go into winter quarters, very probably at Syracuse. What ship will return I know not. My determination still remains unaltered as to continuing in the Mediterranean. There appears to be little probability of active service on the home station, and such service is so evidently indispensible to improvement there can be no alternative than the adoption of so advantageous an opportunity.

I have been highly gratified and delighted in visiting many of those curiosities, which my short stay when we were here last summer, prevented my seeing. The king's palace at Portici, the ruins of Baia, the museum, &c. &c. were all sources of renewed pleasure and satisfaction. The palace was superbly decorated by Murat, and shows amongst its finest ornaments, his portrait with that of Joseph Bonaparte, his wife and children, that of Napoleon and his mother, specimens of exquisite execution. The apartments are all superb; that of Madame Murat, with its furniture, particularly. The gardens are decorated with equal taste and magnificence. The museum of Naples produces some rare collections in paintings and sculpture, the former are modern, and from the hands of the best masters in Europe, among them some productions of Raphael, M. Angelo, &c. The statues are mostly from Pompeia & Herculaneum, a few from Rome. They are numerous, some equestrian, colossal, besides many busts.

The ruins of Baia require a longer description. We obtained permission to go in one of the ship's cutters, so we had nothing to hurry us. We got a guide from Puzzoli, and passed by Caligula's Bridge, 18 arches of which are still above water. It was intended to join Baia and Puzzoli, but it was never completed except with boats and spars, which were soon washed away.

We passed in sight of Mont Barbara, where the Romans got their Falernian wine, of which we read so much, particularly in Horace. We landed where port Julia formerly stood, which was destroyed at the same time that Solfatara sunk by the sudden appearance of Monte Nuevo, which filled up its mole of which some remains are still seen. Here we saw the Locrian Lake, where were preserved the fine oysters, for the luxurious Romans. About a mile beyond this, is Lake Avernus of which the ancients have given us such an horrid description: it is now a harmless lake, remarkable only for the ruins on its borders. A temple of Apollo still remains on one side; its venerable ruins, moss grown, and still defying time and weather. On the opposite shore to the temple, is the grotto of the Sybills, as remarkable as the story of its priestesses. We entered a cavity in the foot of a high hill, and descending gradually about 40 yards, were conducted by our guides, each having a torch, down a gloomy narrow passage hewn in the rock. I assure you, had I been at all inclined to superstitious fears, this was a fair a subject to exercise them, as any you can well conceive. We soon arrived to water, when on the backs of our guides, we were transported to the baths of the priestesses, the appearance of which was no more inviting than the other apartments. We retired through another avenue equally difficult and disagreeable, leading through the hill. We were next arrested in our progress by Nero's baths. They are very curious. After ascending a high hill and entering a cavity as before, we were conducted down a narrow, regular descent, several hundred feet, till we were stopped by the boiling spring. From the moment I entered, I was at once in a profuse perspiration: the steam continued more oppressive: and after reaching the bottom, as soon as the guide got a bucket of water and threw the eggs we had provided in, I was glad to make my retreat; in two and a half minutes, the eggs were boiled, and it is remarkable that however long they are kept in this boiling spring, they never become hard, always continuing in the most delightful consistency.

Below, on a level with the sea, are baths of a milder temperature, and the land on the beach below this hill, though covered constantly with cold water, is so hot as to be scarcely supportable to the touch. We next visited the temples of Venus, Mercury and Diana. The walls are of brick, and yet stand! In that of Mercury, there is a remarkable echo in one of the apartments, justly termed the whispering room: by placing the mouth close to the wall, the slightest whisper can be as distinctly heard on the opposite side (69 feet) as if spoken in the loudest tone. The apartments adjacent to the temples are generally in a more perfect state. Hence we proceeded to the tomb of Aggrippina—it is but little injured, though not cleared of the rubbish, its interior has been elegant. We were thence conducted to Nero's prison: a dismal horrid place, well adapted to the complexion of his crimes. The reservoir of Baoli, where the Roman fleet used to water, is immense and capacious—supported by forty-two stupendous arches. Thus to wind up our fatigues as the ancients did their mortal career, we were conducted to the river Styx, and the Elysian Fields; the former, by eruptions, convulsions, &c. is now reduced to a small lake; the latter is now converted to a vine yard, not half so decent a receptacle as fiddlers-green, allotted to sailors.—Thus have I, a second Dancas, visited both Hell and Elysium; and though I was not gratified with a dish of chat, no doubt experienced otherwise as much satisfaction, and will spin as long a yarn as he.

We also got a view of the scite of Cicero's Villa, and of the palaces of Julius Caesar, Nero, and Scylla—A great part of ancient Baia is now under water, and can be plainly seen in passing from one place to another in boats.

In contemplating these venerable ruins, I have experienced much gratification, and been taught a wise lesson of the frailty of earthly hopes. In ascending the rugged path to fame, our best support is but a brittle reed—and that course of conduct which ensures us happiness is alone to be aimed at.

Specie.

From the very best authority, we have derived the following facts, and pledge ourselves to their truth:—Through an agent in this country, certain highly respectable merchants in London have offered to supply the Bank of the U. S. with TEN MILLIONS of DOLLARS in SILVER, at 4s. 8d. sterling per dollar; the Bank is to pay for the amount at any time which may be convenient to itself; until this payment shall be made, it is annually to allow five per cent interest in London for the dollars; and when the silver shall be delivered, the bank is to make over in trust to the persons furnishing it, an equal amount of U. S. six per cent stock, as security for the ultimate payment for the specie. The dollars are to be remitted, at the risk and expense of the sellers, to any port or ports in the U. States, which may be agreed upon, between the waters of the Chesapeake and Boston, both inclusive; not less than one million of dollars to be shipped at the same time in any one vessel. We understand that the bank will probably accept the offer, at least a large portion of the amount. This will render specie abundant in the country, and produce better times for the community.

Atrocious Mutiny & Murder.

The account received yesterday of the mutiny on board the schooner Plattsburg of this port, and of the murder of Mr. Baynard, capt. Hackett, and a mate of the ship, is, we deeply lament to state, this day confirmed beyond the possibility of doubt. The following extract of a letter from Mr. Tophff, transmitted to us by one of our attentive New York correspondents, minutely details the particulars of the sanguinary transaction, upon the base and cruel perpetrators of which no punishment could be too severe.

Boston, Nov. 5.

"Arrived this day, the ship Pylades, Tripp, 49 days from Copenhagen, Captain Hathaway confirms the account received here on Sunday, respecting the schooner Plattsburg, having been carried into Norway by the crew. He states that the Plattsburg was from Smyrna, or some other port in the Mediterranean, bound to the U. States, and had on board about 48,000 dollars in specie, and some coffee—the crew rose on the officers [when, or where, is not stated] and the captain was killed immediately; the supercargo and mate fought for some length of time, with such weapons as they could lay hold of, until through loss of blood, fatigue, and superior numbers, they fell beside their beloved commander. The crew consisted of 14 persons, among whom were only three Americans, have been arrested, and one Dane at Copenhagen, who have acknowledged the bloody deed before the police of that place. They are turned over to the common chancery, where it was expected the proceedings would take up nearly six months. The Dane pleads not guilty, but as he was forced to be silent: however, not refuse his share of the money, and forgot to make any discovery until joined by the others. The schooner was carried into Mandell, Norway, where the crew were living in great style, upon their ill-gotten wealth—it was said they spent from 90 to 100 dollars a day per man—The Americans and Dane went from Norway to copenhagen, where they purchased a small vessel, and furnished her with plenty of provisions, for the purpose of making off with themselves, and gave out that they were going on a smuggling voyage to Sweden, and thus the vessel was loaded with goods suitable for that purpose.—On applying to clear out, their passports were demanded—not having any, suspicions were at once entertained that they were part of the crew of the Plattsburg, the circumstances having been known for several days previous, & their vessel was ordered to be searched, and instead of finding goods suitable for smuggling, nothing but water and provisions were found on board—they were immediately arrested, and on being carried to the Police Office, acknowledged every circumstance attending the bloody transaction of which they had been partakers. The name of the owner of the Plattsburg, is Icaac M'Kim; those murdered were Mr. Baynard, supercago; capt. Hacket, and Mr. Onion, mate."

[NOTE.—There are two or three mistakes in the above. The Plattsburg was bound from Baltimore to Smyrna when the mutiny occurred; she had on board 40,600 dollars in specie, and 112,000 lbs. of coffee; and expected to bring home opium for an East India voyage. We understand that about 81,000 dollars were insured on her. She had two mates—Mr. Yeizer and Mr. Onion, and 10 men, besides the captain and supercargo.]

Loss of the British brig Sir John Sherbroke.

By the shooner Alert, arrived here on Saturday evening, in 6 days from Havana, we received the following particulars of the shipwreck and plunder of the brig Sir John Sherbrooke, communicated by Mr. Dance, the supercargo, who with three or four of the passengers, arrived at Havana, a few days before the Albert sailed, in a fishing smack.

"The British brig Sir John Sherbroke, David Cowman, Master, sailed from Jamaica, on the 6th October, bound to New-York, with a cargo of coffee, pimento, &c. and a considerable amount, 60,000 dollars on board. On the night of the 19th following, struck on a reef off the Eastern Key of the Dry Tortugas, and before morning bilged. The captain, together with his mate, some of his crew, and two steerage passengers, after puting the passengers and part of the crew on shore on the Key, with their trunks, commenced getting out the dollars, which were stowed in boxes and barrels in the hold, and sending them on shore. On the 22d a small fishing smack, belonging to the Havana, took off the passengers and six of the crew, but the captain, his mate, carpenter, steward, boy, and one of the crew of the smack, insisted on being left on the Key, together with the long boat, their trunks and the dollars saved, except a part which were in the trunks of two steerage passengers. Capt. Cowan offered the two steerage passengers 500 pounds each, if they would accompany him in taking the long boat, and making off with the money to the U. S. It is therefore believed that he will, before the return of the smack, have left the Key for that purpose.

The following is a partial description of the captain, and those who assisted him in this villainous business:

Captain—David Cowan, of Greenock in Scotland, about 40 to 45 years of age, very stout made, about 5 feet 10 inches high, very red face, with every appearance of being occasioned by liquor.

Mate.—Motherwell, a native of Scotland, about 40 years of age, stout made, about 5 feet 10 inches high.

Carpenter—A native of Scotland, about 5 feet 9 or 10 inches high, well made very fresh color, dark hair, about 30 years of age.

Steward—a negro, formerly belonging to St. Thomas, stout made, about 5 feet 8 or 9 inches high, about 30 years of age.

Boy—M'Kinley, a native of Scotland about 5 feet 6 or 7 inches high, 15 or 16 years of age, very fresh colour and light hair.

George—belonging to the fishing smack, an Englishman, red hair, very deaf, about 65 years of age, about 5 feet 7 inches high."

The smack was immediately armed & dispatched to the wreck, in the hope that she might fall in with the captain before he could get off with the specie.

ALEXANDRIA.

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 12.

Extract of a letter from Messrs. Hill and Blodget, at Gibraltar, to a house in this place, dated 14th Sept. 1816.

"Annexed is a Price Current at Gibraltar—as the season advances, the market evidently improves for almost every article. Kentucky tobacco, contrary to the general expectation, has advanced to $22—the rates were at this price. A cargo of 560 hhds has recently arrived from New Orleans, for which $25 is demanded and no doubt will be obtained, as the old crop of Kentucky has nearly all been shipped off. It is hardly probable that any considerable parcels will arrive that will tend to depress our market very materially. It is likely that for several months to come the article may fluctuate between 18 and 22 dollars; but the moment the Gib market feels the influence of the new crop of Kentucky tobacco, the price will no doubt rapidly decline, perhaps to ten and 12 dollars. Yellow bees wax is in demand, the last sales were at $40—it should be free from dirt and mixture.—The stock of rice is nearly exhausted, an encreased demand and enhanced price is confidently expected by January next. Hides are brisk at $13, p. staves are very unsaleable, except in barter for wines at $80, $90 p. m. of 1200. Beef, pork and dye woods are dull. Coffees are improving, particularly the small grain of Martinique, which is always preferred. Flour is rapidly advancing, 9 dollars and a half has been offered for 500 barrels but refused; 10 dollars has been demanded and will be obtained.

Exchange on London. Government Bills at 60 days are about 10 per cent advance. Dollars one and a half per cent premium.

Extract of a letter from Hill & Blodget, dated Gibraltar, Sept. 14.

"Since writing you this morning we know of an offer that has been made for 500 barrels of flour at nine dollars and a half cash, but as it is now stored, they will not take less than 10 dollars, which they will very shortly obtain."

The pilot boat Erie came up from Sandy Hook last night, and brought us news of the arrival of the above mentioned vessels, and London papers of the 1st of October and Glasgow of the 27th of Sept.

They contain but few articles of intelligence, of which the following is the substance:

Price of stocks at London Oct. 1—3 per cent. Consuls 61 1-8 1 4. Do. for accounts 64 1-2.

The Paris paper stated that the Thulleries is in a manner deserted, that is, all the persons attached to the court & the princes, even the usual court frequenters are gone to vote at all the elections in the diferent departments. The princes themselves seem to absent themselves from Paris as much as possible, passing much of their time at Compiegne, Versailles, St. Cloud, and other places. Whether this is to shew that they do not mean to interfere in the elections, or that they are displeased with the dissolution we know not.

An article from Naples of the 7th, says a Paris paper, would have us believe that the Court of Naples would be disposed to cede Lampedson to the Americans, if such a cession were not disagreeable to us. It would certainly be disagreeable to us (says the same paper.) But can the court of Naples make such a session of its own accord.

JAMES KENNEDY & SON,

BOOKSELLERS, KING STREET,

Have just received from LEE'S PATENT MEDICINE Store, No. 46 Maiden Lane, N. York,

A FRESH SUPPLY

Of the following genuine Medicines.

For the prevention and cure of Bilious and Malignant Fevers, is recommended

Hahn's Anti-Bilious Pills.

THIS Medicine has been attended with a degree of success highly grateful to the inventor's feelings, in several parts of the West Indies, and the Southern & Middle States, particularly in N. York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Petersburg, Richmond, Norfolk, Edenton, Wilmington, Charleston, and Savannah. The testimony of a number of persons at each of the above places can be adduced, who have reason to believe, that a timely use of this salutary remedy has, under Providence, preserved their lives, when in the most alarming circumstances.

Facts of this conclusive nature speak more in favour of a medicine than columns of pompous eulogy, founded on mere assertion.

It is not, indeed, presumptuously proposed as an infallible cure, but the inventor has every possible reason that can result from extensive experience, for believing that a dose of these Pills, taken once in every two weeks, during the prevalence of our bilious fevers, will prove an infallible preventative; and further, that in the earlier stages of those diseases, their use will very generally succeed in restoring health, and frequently in cases esteemed desperate, and beyond the power of common remedies.

The operation of these pills is perfectly mild, so as to be used with safety by persons in every situation, and of every age.

They are excellently adapted to cary off superfluous bile & prevent its morbid secretions—to restore & amend the appetite—to produce a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds which is so often of fatal consequences. A dose never fails to remove a cold it taken on its first appearance—they are celebrated for removing habitual costiveness—sickness at the stomach and severe head-ache—and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.

They have been found remarkably efficatious in preventing and curing disorders attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.

HAMILTON'S WORM DESTROYING LOZENGES.

Which have cured an immense number of persons of both sexes, of every age, and in every situation, of various dangerous complaints arising from worms, and from obstructions or foulness in the stomach and bowels.

This medicine bears no analogy whatever to others of similar titles so commonly complained of, as operating with violence; on the contrary, a particular excellence of this remedy is its being suited to every age and constitution. It contains nothing but what is perfectly innocent, and is also mild in its operation, cannot injure the most delicate pregnant lady or the tenderest infant of a week old, should no worms exist in the body; but will, without pain or griping, cleanse the stomach and bowels, of whatever is foul or offensive, and thereby prevent the production of worms, and many fatal disorders. The lozenges are particularly efficacious in carrying off all gross humours and eruptions, feverish and bilious complaints, and are the safest and mildest purgative that can be used on any occasion.

DESCRIPTION OF WORMS.

And the symptoms by which they are known:

Worms which infest the human body, are chiefly of four kinds, viz.—The Teres, or large round worm; the Ascarides, or small maw-worm; the Cucurbitina, or short, flat, white worm; and lastly, the Tænia, or tape-worm, so called from its resemblance to tape. This is often many yards long, and is full of joints. It is most hurtful and most difficult to remove.

Among the symptoms attending worms are—disagreeable breath, especially in the morning; bad and corrupted gums; itching in the nose, and about the seat; convulsions, epileptic fits, and sometimes privation of speech: starting and grinding of the teeth in sleep; irregular appetite, sometimes loathing food, and sometimes voracious; purging, with slimy & fœtid stools; vomiting; large and hard belly; pains and sickness at the stomach; slow fever, with small and irregular pulse; a dry cough; excessive thirst; sometimes pale and unhealthy countenance, and sometimes the face bloated and flushed.

Persons afflicted with any of the above symptoms, should have immediate recourse to Hamilton's Worm Destroying Lozenges, which have been constantly attended with success, in all complaints similar to those above described.

A dose of this medicine given occasionally during the warm season, will effectually prevent "the vomiting and purging of children"—a dreadful disorder, which annually destroys thousands of the infant part of our citizens. It is likewise the mildest and most certain remedy known, and has restored to health and strength a great number, when in an advanced stage of this fatal complaint. Particular and plain instructions are given for every part of the necessary treatment in such cases.

Children generally take this medicine with eagerness; having a pleasing appearance, and an agreeable taste.

Hamilton's Essence and Extract of Mustard.
